About the Fellowship

The Fellowship in Emergency Medicine is a meticulously structured 12-month hybrid program designed for clinicians who seek specialist-level competency without the immediate commitment of a full-time residency. By separating the learning journey into a 9-month online training followed by a 3-month clinical training, we ensure that when you step into the Emergency Department, you are ready to act. This "Theory-to-Theater" approach bridges the gap between clinical knowledge and split-second decision-making, transforming you into a confident, algorithm-driven emergency practitioner.

12 Months hybrid | 9 months Online + 3-month clinical training

Focused training on international protocols to standardize your response to life-threatening crises.

Use our digital platform to master diagnostic reasoning and case simulations before applying them in real-world clinical rotations.

Spend 90 days in intensive, hospital-based rotations under the direct mentorship of senior Emergency Physicians.

Dedicated focus on life-saving skills including airway management, central line access, and POCUS.

Designed for practicing doctors and FMGE graduates who require a high-impact certification with a manageable full-time commitment.
